A few submissions we wanted to highlight...

It's the Most Wonderful Time of the Year by Andy Williams

Brick in the Wall by Pink Floyd
("We don't need no education.")

Schools Out by Alice Cooper...wishful thinking?

Many questions were submitted.

How will tenure be decided going forward? Is there an emphasis on research and grants, teaching, etc.?

How can faculty exceed expectations and achieve a distinguished rating?

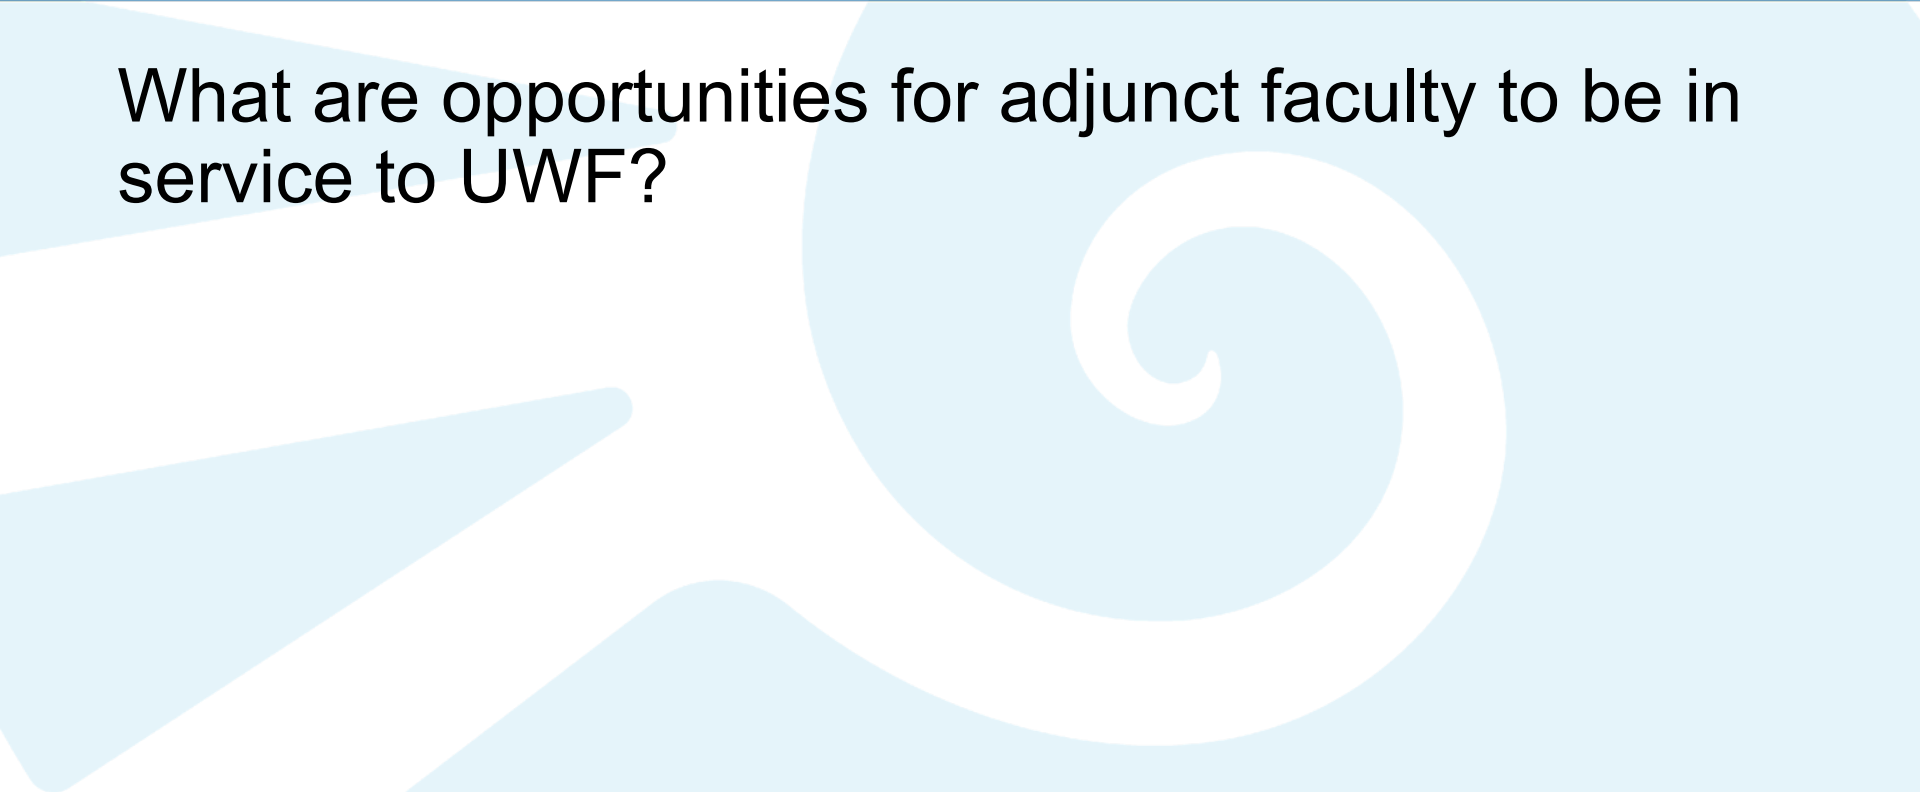

Space allocation

How are spaces (offices, research labs, etc.) assigned to units?

How to instill academic rigor back into courses in the classroom, since returning from virtual classes?

What is a fair expectation from a student on when to have grades back on an assignment?

What are opportunities for adjunct faculty to be in service to UWF?

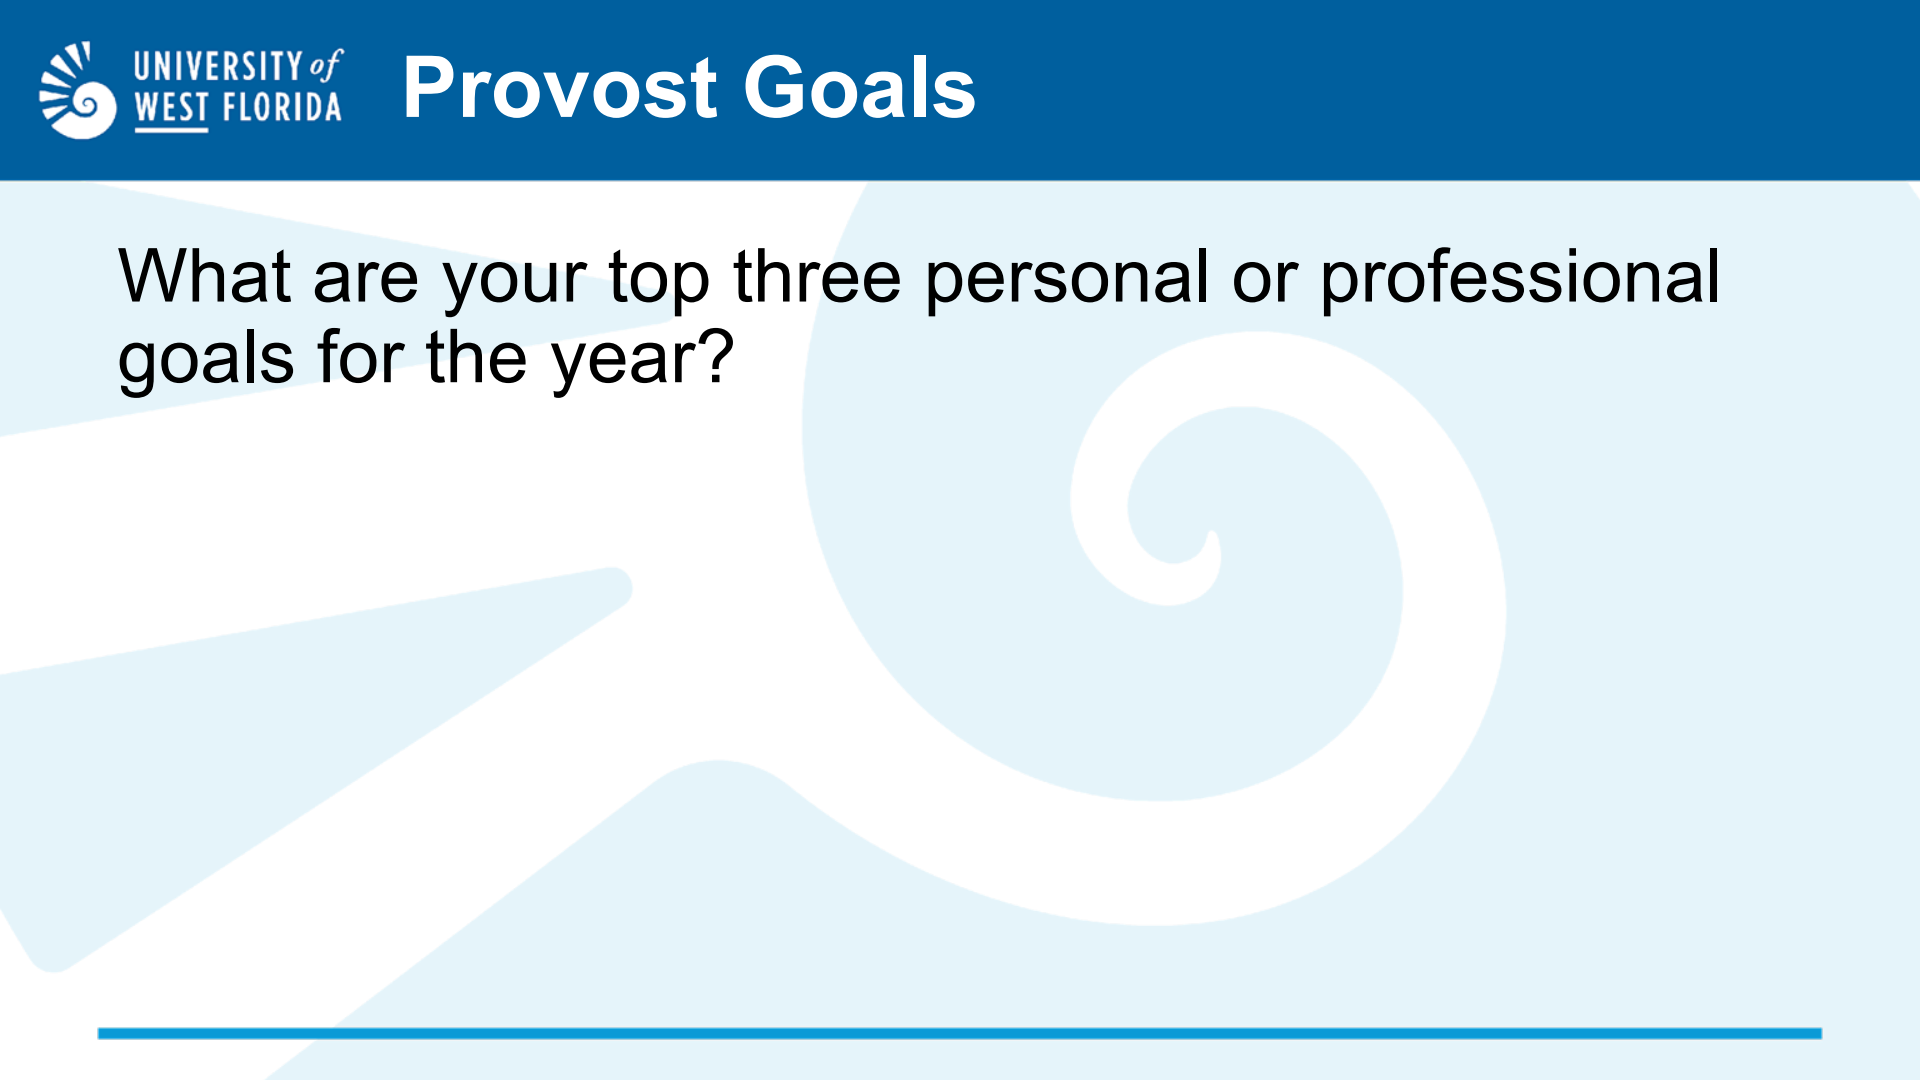

What steps are you taking to engage with students and faculty to personally understand their challenges at the institution?

Concerning African American history and literature, are there topics and subjects we cannot teach by law due to House Bill 7?

How do we address the perception that history is being banned or targeted in the classroom?

What are your top three personal or professional goals for the year?

How can new faculty find a mentor, within or outside of their department?

New Student Convocation
