Part I. Consulting Industry, Skills and Professionalism

Introduction
Chapter 1: The Changing Global Consulting Industry
(Flemming Poulfelt, Copenhagen Business School, Arvind Bhambri, USC and Larry Greiner, USC)
Chapter 2: Professionalism in Consulting
(David Maister)
Chapter 3: The Marketing and Selling of Consulting Services
(Robert Duboff, Boston College and Ernst and Young)

Part II. Major Practice Areas in Consulting

Introduction
Chapter 4: Information Technology Consulting
(Richard Nolan, Harvard Business School and Larry Bennigson, Harvard Interactive)
Chapter 5: Strategy and Organization Consulting
(Adrian J. Slywotzky, Mercer Management Consulting, and David Nadler, Mercer Delta Organizational Consulting)
Chapter 6: The Marketing Consultant
(Robert Spekman, U. of Virginia, and Philip Kotler, Northwestern U.)
Chapter 7: Operations Management Consulting
(Richard Chase and Ravi Kumar, USC)
Chapter 8: Human Resources Management: New Consulting Opportunities
(Edward Lawler and Susan Mohrman, USC)

Part III. Consulting in Different Contexts

Introduction
Chapter 9: Consulting to CEOs and Boards
(David Nadler, Mercer Delta Organizational Consulting)
Chapter 10: Globalization Consulting
(Stephen Rhinesmith, CDR International)
Chapter 11: Public Sector Consultation
(Alan Glassman, California State University at Northridge and Morley Winograd, USC)

Part IV. Implementation in Consulting

Introduction
Chapter 12: Intervention Strategies in Management Consulting
(Tom Cummings, USC)
Chapter 13: Consulting to Integrate Mergers and Acquisitions
(Anthony Buono, Bentley)
Chapter 14: On Becoming a Transformational Change Agent
(Robert Quinn, U of Michigan and Shawn Quinn, Columbia U.)

Part V: Managing and Growing the Consulting Firm

Introduction
Chapter 15: Managing Growth Stages in Consulting Firms
(Larry Greiner, USC and James Malernee, Cornerstone Research)
Chapter 16: High Performance Consulting Firms
(Jay Lorsch, Harvard Business School)
Chapter 17: Creating and Sharing Knowledge in Consulting
(Tom Davenport, Accenture and Larry Prusac, IBM)

Part VI: Looking Ahead at Management Consulting

Introduction
Chapter 18: Will Consulting Go Online?
(Fiona Czerniawska, Arke Idea Consulting & Kingston Business School)
Chapter 19: Research on Management Consulting
(Flemming Poulfelt, Copenhagen Business School and Larry Greiner, USC)

Recent Books on Management Consulting