CLASS GUIDELINES

FALL 2002

Grading:

Grade will be based on a number of standards. If you meet all the standards I can guarantee you an A-. If you wish to get a better grade it will be up to you to go beyond simply meeting the minimum guidelines in quality and apparent thought.

Attendance:

Attendance is imperative for all classes, the entire period assigned to the class. This is a class situation with expected interaction, Camaraderie, and co-operation. It is expected that you will need to go beyond class time in some situations in order to achieve a successful result. If you miss more than three classes in the semester your grade will be seriously affected.

Projects:

All projects are to be successfully completed at the time when they are due (refer to the class outline). You are expected to follow the directions concerning the use of the equipment.

Clean Up:

You are to completely clean your area and the shop equipment at the end of each class.

Equipment:

You will be assigned a Drawer / Cupboard. You are responsible for your stuff being in that cupboard. This is for the good of students in the class, not just the noisiest (physically or conceptually).
