Vice Provost McCorkle coordinated a group exercise for the Intellectual Property work group where the entire group was divided into three groups. The three groups were instructed to answer the following questions: what did we learn, what do we still need to know, and where do we go from here. After the individual groups met, each group presented their answers to the questions. The groups expressed that further clarification is needed regarding the responsibility of the university in ownership of course materials, and the difference between online and classroom course material. Vice Provost McCorkle encouraged committee members to research policies at other universities, especially within the State University System. Pam Langham encouraged the group to review the current policies and revise current policies rather than try to reinvent the policies. The group agreed to this plan moving forward.
