The Four Year Navigation Chart for Student Success was developed by the College of Education and Professional Studies at the University of West Florida. The Navigation Chart examines available resources and opportunities for engagement offered by the college and the university for the students. From this success plan, we provided students with charts to navigate first-, second-, third-, and fourth-years of higher education.

The team who developed the Four Year Navigation Chart for Student Success comprised of faculty, staff, advisors, and alumni. The team determined a timeline of events and opportunities that, when engaged in, will foster student success and timely degree completion. Inspired by our team's expertise, NACADA: The Global Community for Academic Advising, Grand Valley State University, and UWF resources, this chart sets to improve the student experience by navigating them toward success.

The Four Year Navigation Chart for Student Success will be examined every-other-year by the Director of Advising for the College of Education and Professional Studies and a team to ensure relevant content is included in the plan. New resources and opportunities for engagement will be considered when reviewing the chart to align it with the university's strategic plan and the college's mission and values. The review will also ensure this navigation chart stays relevant to the ever changing culture of the student body.
